

case study #2 - SIMPSON OIL & Pre Cancerous Moles on DF's back

In 2012 we used an unidentified strain of potent hash oil to "remove" a large dark mole from DF's abdomen. At first his applications were haphazard, but once we got him on a daily schedule with progress photos along the way, his belly was clear within 2 months, for the first time in 20 years. (that study was submitted in July 2014)

In Oct 2014, we decided to try again with 2 dark moles on his back - i was concerned to see the center one growing and morphing over time. This time we chose an extract of Wendy Read's Simpson Oil which i helped to produce in a medicine making course last July. This remedy was an alcohol extraction.

After 2 or 3 days, the itching was driving him crazy, so he decided to only apply the medicine every 2-3x per week. We continued for about 3 more weeks on this more sporadic treatment schedule, and lo and behold, the moles were gone within a month. Here is his back now:
